Anas:

Dad, that was an amazing ride—I love Eid!

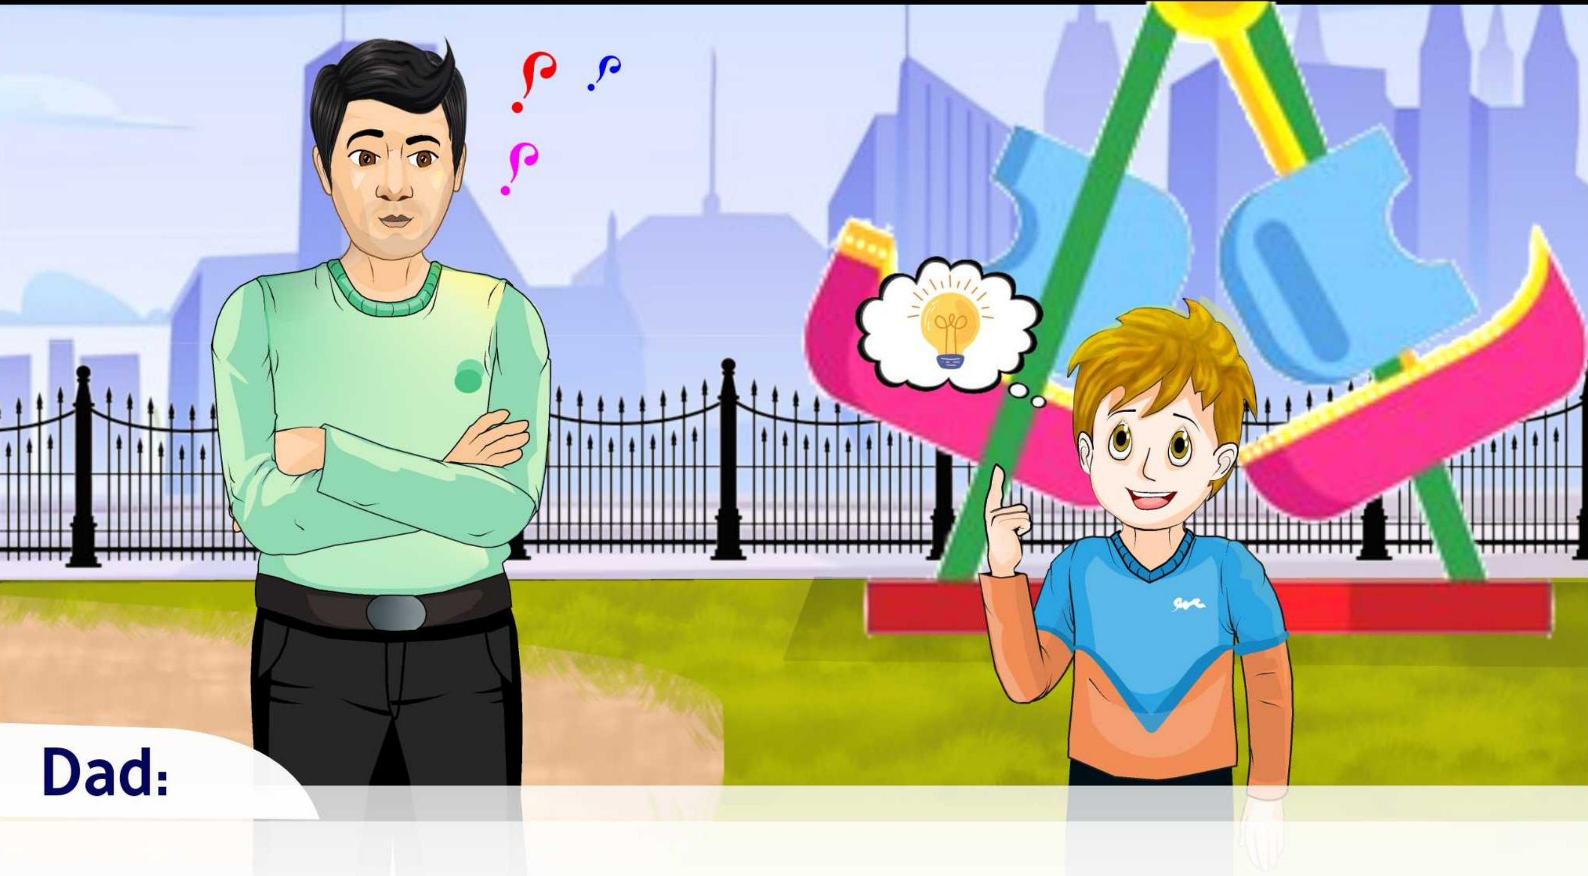

Dad:

Of course! It's a wonderful opportunity to bring joy to people's hearts

Anas:

Dad, that child looks sad... I could tell he really wanted to try the ride

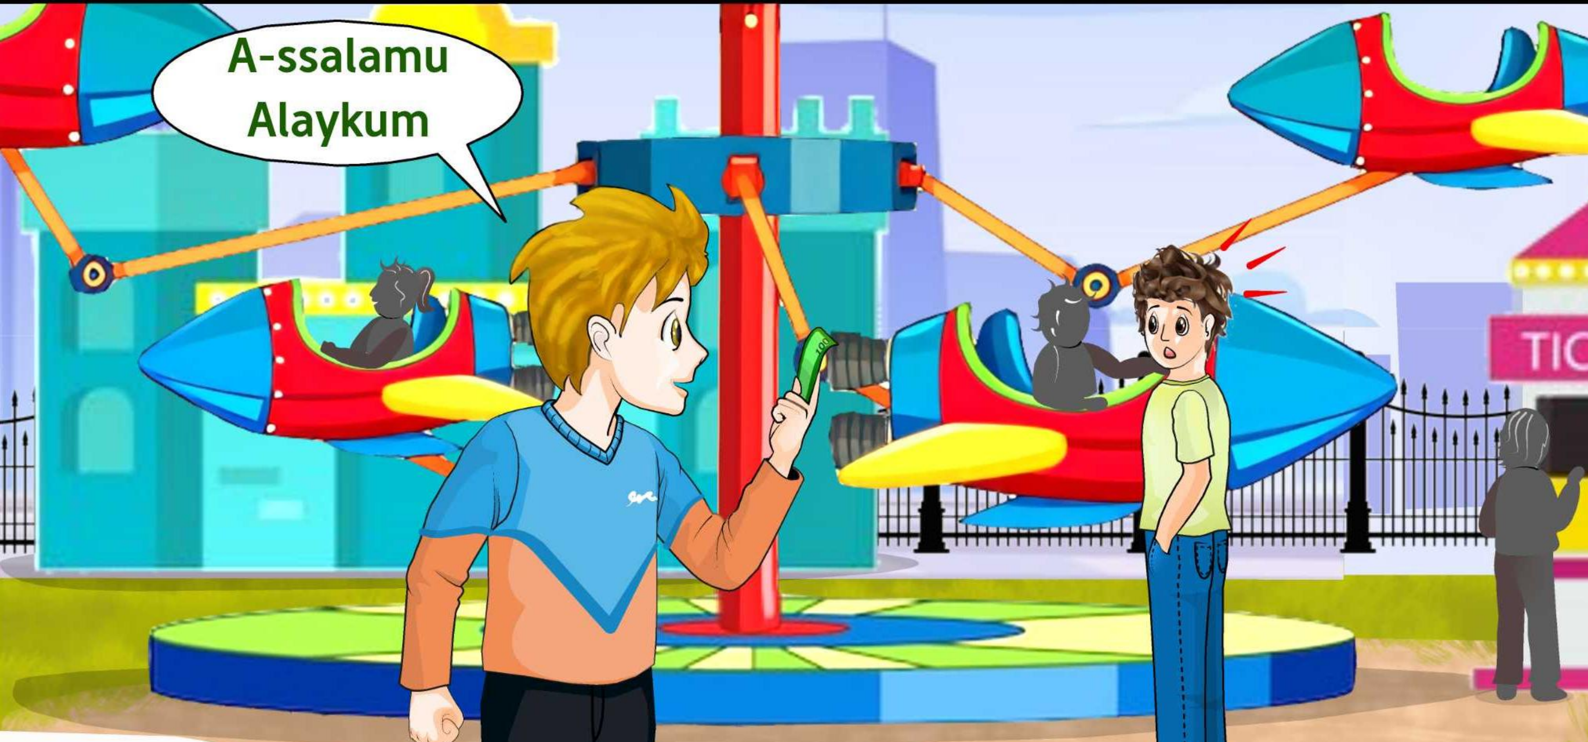

Dad:

Really? What should we do?

Anas:

I'll pay for his ride from my Eid money!

Anas:

Hey friend, I’d love to gift you the ride fare—
Eid Mubarak!

The boy:

Allahu Akbar! Allahu Akbar! Allahu Akbar!

Anas:

What are you saying? Are you praying the Eid prayer again?

The boy:

Haha! No—Allah is greater than joy itself!
Wait for me, I'm coming up with you!

Dad:

Allahu Akbar! You've brought happiness to his heart, my son!

Anas:

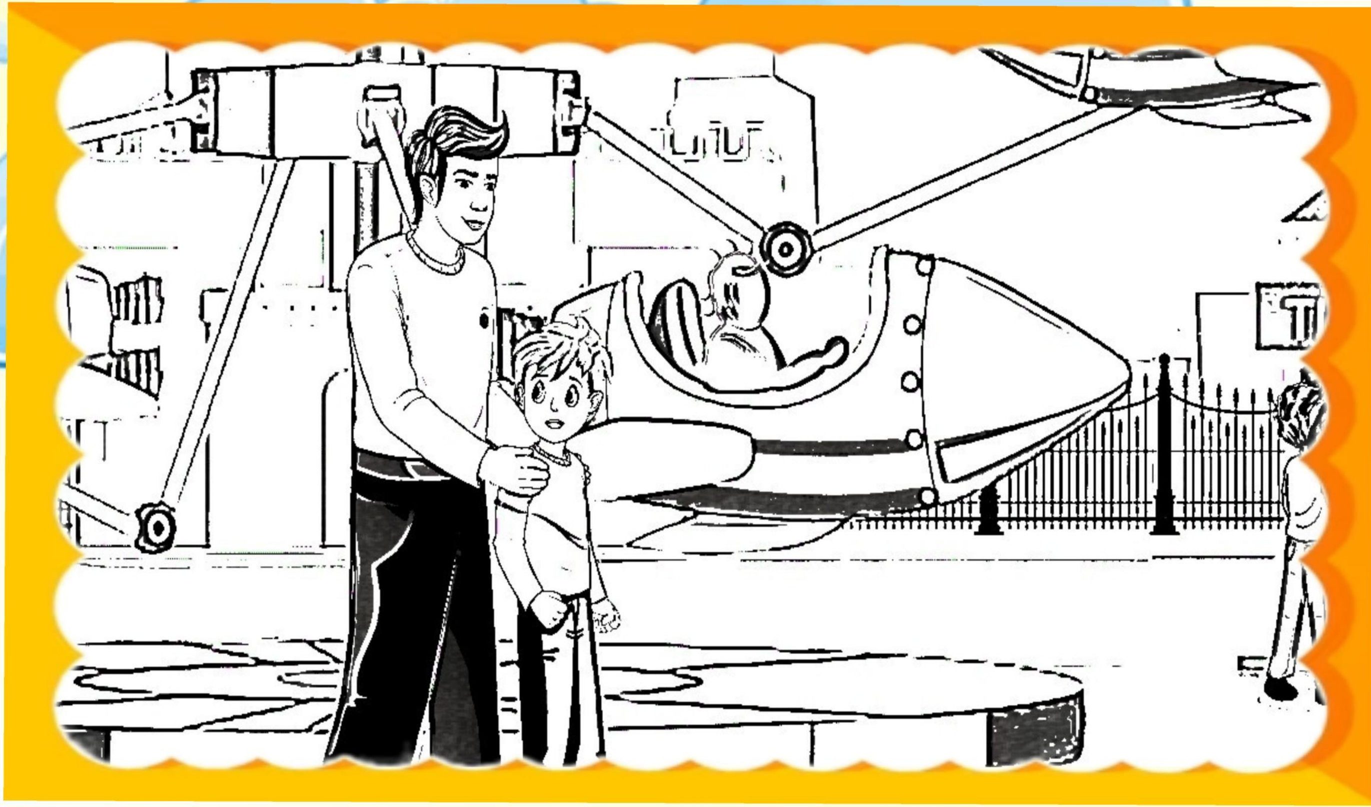

Allahu Akbar! Now I understand the true meaning of "Allahu Akbar"!

Anas:

Indeed, Allah is greater and more magnificent than joy —and greater than anything, no matter how big it may seem!
